Coin flips

A fair coin lands heads with probability one half.

Two independent flips both land heads with probability one quarter.

Independence means one flip does not change the other.